Charitable Gift Annuities

My dear brothers and sisters in Rotary,

In late August, Binota and I were in Ghana, where Rotary Foundation Trustee Vice Chair Sam Okudzeto and enthusiastic local Rotarians took us to the ribbon-cutting for a water project in a little village, Abutia Teti, about 60 miles from Accra. We arrived at about 11 a.m., and the whole village seemed to be there. Everyone had been waiting since early morning to welcome us. In the past, the women had to walk over 3 miles to carry pails of water from a river.

Now they had a supply of safe, clean water from tube wells in the village itself. It was a simple but effective project in which Rotary and USAID had worked together. But what struck us most that day was family: The men, the women, the children were all there together, dancing, singing, and welcoming us. It made me think about how everywhere around the world, people come together in families, and families join together as communities.

And this made me happy that the first of our emphases in this Rotary year is the family, because the family is where everything begins. It is where life begins, it is where our day begins, and it is where our Rotary service must begin. Because it is the family, and not the individual, that is the building block of the community – and of Rotary.

It is one of my great priorities to encourage the involvement of families in Rotary service. I feel incredibly strongly that Rotary should never, ever come between the Rotarian and the family. Rotary service should be something that brings the family closer together. For myself, if I cannot bring Binota with me to a Rotary event, it's simple – I don't go! Rotary is not just for me; it is for both of us. This is why I encourage districts to welcome families at district conferences, to involve spouses and children in service projects, and to plan meeting times with families in mind. The more that families are involved in Rotary, the more Rotary will thrive – today and tomorrow.

What is Rotary about? It's about so many things, but at its core, Rotary is about these words: Love your neighbor as yourself. Rotary is about love, and that love has to start with us – and with those closest to us.

Make Giving to Our Foundation an Annual Tradition

Bill Boyd, Foundation Trustee Chair

As Rotarians, we often reduce our words to initials. We talk of GSEs, VTTs, NIDs, and PHFs. Our district officers are DGs, DGEs, and DGNs, and in Evanston we have a GS. We have plenty of PDGs and an occasional PRIP. I am sure you could add many more.

This month, I would like to focus on another set of initials: EREY. The words are Every Rotarian, Every Year, and they encourage every one of us to make an annual contribution to our Foundation. Despite the economic problems and the awful natural disasters, our giving to the Annual Programs Fund last year was the second highest in history. Thank you for your confidence that we are building a Foundation that will be stronger and even more effective in the future.

I read a lot of district and zone newsletters, and I smiled at a quote in a recent newsletter from District 7600, in Virginia, USA. In it, Bill Billings talked about how Rotary became more important to him as he became more involved. He went on to say, "These are my brightest days in Rotary because now I am learning what I can do for Rotary. I give to The Rotary Foundation every year because it feels so good."

At this point, his sense of humor came through. I am not sure if every country has telemarketing, but if yours does, you will appreciate Bill's next words: "But I also give to the Foundation because it is the best defense against annoying telemarketers. When they call me I simply say, 'I give my money to The Rotary Foundation, but thanks for calling and have a nice day.' Click!" Bill has made our Rotary Foundation his charity of choice. I hope you will too.

An online registration form for the conference itself is now available! Use your smart phone to scan this QR code to take you to the registration site or go the District 6880 website.

Registration can be done via Credit Card, Pay Pal, Check or now, by popular demand, you can register online.

2013 Council on Legislation

As we are now in the second quarter of Rotary's 2011-12 year, there is less than 3 months to submit proposed legislation for the 2013 Council on Legislation. RI must receive proposed legislation, along with its certification form signed by the district governor and proposer's purpose and effect statement, no later than 31 December 2011.

For districts holding a conference between now and December, legislation can still be proposed or endorsed at a district conference. Districts that do not have a district conference before the deadline should know that where time does not allow for legislation to be submitted to a district conference, a ballot-by-mail may be conducted.

Additional information about and useful tools for the 2013 Council have been posted on the Council on Legislation section of the RI website (<http://www.rotary.org/col>).

Rotary, UN Celebrate Special Relationship

By Ryan Hyland; Rotary International News – 9 November 2011

More than 1,000 Rotarians, UN officials, Rotary youth program participants, and guests celebrated the special relationship between Rotary and the United Nations on 5 November. Rotary-UN Day, held annually at United Nations headquarters in New York City, included panels on health, water, and literacy, highlighting Rotarian projects that advance the goals of the UN and improve lives around the world.

Kiyo Akasaka, UN undersecretary-general for communications and public information, commended Rotary for its ongoing collaboration with the United Nations to improve the health of children worldwide, and for its contribution to polio eradication.

"Our shared vision for a safer and better world is what brings us together here today," Akasaka said. "It's your model of Service Above Self and your sterling results in improving health that makes Rotary one of the most important partners of the UN."

Peace and justice

Both organizations are striving to create a more peaceful and just world, noted RI President-elect Sakuji Tanaka. "If you were to seek the one idea, the one goal that is at the core of Rotary, you would find the same goal that you find in the charter of the UN: to practice tolerance and live together in peace with one another as good neighbors," Tanaka said.

Timothy E. Wirth, president of the United Nations Foundation and Better World Fund, stressed the importance of partnerships. "Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon recognizes that every problem the UN faces cannot be [solved] by the UN alone," he said, adding that Rotary's "understanding and commitment to partnerships will make so many of these goals we share possible."

Partnerships

Rotary is committed to partnering with organizations like the UN, said John Hewko, RI general secretary. "Rotary is learning by experience that it can accomplish more in concert with others than it might on its own. Working together multiplies our success: one plus one equals three," Hewko said. "This new formula provides a unique opportunity to enhance humanitarian service, which is what Rotary is all about. It helps build understanding and peace -- the mission of Rotary and the UN."

Zulfiqar A. Bhutta, head of the Division of Women and Child Health at Aga Khan University, discussed the strategic partnership between the university and Rotary, and the challenges of promoting maternal and child health in developing countries in Africa and parts of Asia.

More than 300,000 women die each year from complications related to pregnancy and childbirth, Bhutta said. "Our biggest challenge is reaching these poor women, families, and infants to give them adequate health care."

"I believe we are at the beginning of the journey with Rotary International to improve child and maternal health in the hardest-to-reach places in Central and South Asia and Africa," he added.

Other panelists during Rotary-UN Day included Jacob Kumaresan, executive director of the World Health Organization, New York; Paul Edwards, senior adviser for UNICEF on water, sanitation, and hygiene; Ginny Wolfe, senior director of U.S. communications for the ONE Campaign; Philippe Kridelka, director of UNESCO, New York; and Ron Denham, chair of the Water and Sanitation Rotarian Action Group.

Rotary, which has a 66-year history with the UN, holds the highest consultative status offered to any nongovernmental organization by the Economic and Social Council, which oversees many UN agencies.

RI Convention Promises Inspiring Speakers at a Great Value

By Maureen Vaught

Rotary International News – 1 December 2011

Rotary's 103rd convention in Bangkok, Thailand, 6-9 May, will offer attendees an unforgettable experience in the Land of a Thousand Smiles. Bangkok is a city filled with exotic temples, unique museums, and ancient attractions. The RI Convention also promises great speakers, including two individuals who have spent their lives promoting economic and community development, one of Rotary's areas of focus.

Nobel Peace Prize winner Muhammad Yunus will be a keynote speaker Monday, 7 May. Yunus is the founder of Grameen Bank, which provides small loans to entrepreneurs, particularly women, in impoverished communities.

Also speaking on 7 May will be Hugh Evans, cofounder and CEO of the Global Poverty Project, an organization dedicated to motivating people to take action to end extreme poverty. The Global Poverty Project recently added polio eradication to its list of campaigns.

A subsidy from the Thai government has helped make the low registration rates possible. Register for the Bangkok convention by 1 December and you and your spouse or partner will pay just US$160 each to attend. Children ages 5-18 are only $10 each. Rotaractors and Rotary Foundation alumni can attend for $50, while Interactors and Rotary Youth Exchange students pay just $10.

United Airlines and its Star Alliance partners are offering travel discounts to Bangkok for Rotarians. Fly economy and save as much as 15 percent, or travel business class for a 20 percent savings (some exceptions may apply).

Microfinance pioneer Muhammad Yunus was an economics professor at the University of Chittagong in Bangladesh when he began transforming lives through microcredit. What began as personal microloans to poor women in nearby villages grew into Grameen Bank, which today has more than 2,500 branches throughout the country. Since 1983, the bank has helped launch or expand the businesses of more than 8.34 million borrowers – 97 percent of them women.

What makes Grameen Bank even more impressive is its nearly 97 percent repayment rate – a recovery rate higher than any other banking system. Grameen social business models can be found in 58 countries, including Canada, France, Norway, the Netherlands, and the United States.

In October 2006, Yunus and Grameen Bank were awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for their efforts to foster economic and social development from the bottom up. Yunus chairs the Yunus Centre, which was formed to help disseminate information and promote the Grameen model.

Hugh Evans began his humanitarian work at age 14, traveling to the Philippines from his home in Australia as an ambassador for World Vision. He founded the Australia-based Oaktree Foundation, a youth-run aid organization that aims to end global poverty, and in 2004 was named Young Australian of the Year.

The Global Poverty Project formally launched in 2008. Using a combination of advocacy campaigns and education, the organization seeks to motivate the public to halve poverty and hunger by 2015, a target of the UN Millennium Development Goals. Recently, the Global Poverty Project has set its sights on another goal of particular importance to Rotarians: ending polio. The organization is conducting an online petition drive to encourage world leaders to fully fund polio eradication, and held an End of Polio Concert on 28 October in Perth, Australia.

Public is Aware of Rotary, but Unsure of What We Do

Rotary International News

Do your friends and co-workers know that you're a Rotarian? Do you tell acquaintances about your club's good works in the community or internationally?

Did you know that talking about your involvement in Rotary could significantly enhance the organization's image and boost public awareness? It's up to every Rotarian to tell the world what Rotary is and does.

According to a public image survey commissioned by Rotary International in 2010, people are much more likely to know about Rotary and perceive it positively as a charitable organization if they personally know a Rotarian. The finding is just one of many that could shape how clubs and districts promote Rotary in their communities.

RI commissioned the survey of 1,000 individuals in each of six countries -- Argentina, Australia, Germany, Japan, South Africa, and the United States -- to gauge the general public's awareness and perception of the organization. The results are consistent with those of a similar survey conducted in 2006: While respondents had heard of Rotary, they did not know much about what it does.

Building familiarity is not easy, says Pauline Leung, Rotary public image general coordinator. "Sometimes Rotarians are doing too many things and can get people confused about Rotary. We must have consistency when promoting the image of Rotary. Rotarians should receive training so they can clearly express our position, our vision, our values, and our areas of focus." High awareness, low familiarity

The survey showed that awareness of Rotary varies from country to country, and culture to culture. Of the six countries surveyed, Australia had the highest proportion of respondents who said they were aware of Rotary (95 percent), while Germany had the lowest (34 percent). But awareness of Rotary doesn't necessarily translate into familiarity with what it does. While almost everyone in Australia indicated an awareness of Rotary, only 35 percent of respondents said they had some familiarity with the organization. In South Africa, where 80 percent of respondents indicated they were aware of Rotary, only 23 percent said they had some familiarity with what it does.

The survey report concluded that public image efforts will need to be tailored to each country. It also noted that boosting awareness alone will not be enough to get the public to readily associate Rotary with good works, or to generate greater community involvement.

The survey further concluded that demographics play a significant role in whether people have heard of Rotary. The survey included a cross section of each country's population by age, gender, income level, and education level. In Japan, 67 percent of respondents age 40 or older said they had heard of Rotary, compared to only 38 percent of those younger than 40. In Argentina, 63 percent of the highest income bracket had heard of Rotary, while only 20 percent of the lowest income bracket had. The report concluded that clubs may need to gain a better understanding of what would increase interest among younger professionals.

Public is Aware of Rotary, but Unsure of What We Do

Public perception and giving

The public's view of Rotarians differs somewhat from how Rotarians see themselves. More than 65 percent of respondents viewed Rotarians as charitable, respected, and caring. But only 26 percent selected the attribute women to describe Rotary, while more than 50 percent associated the organization with men. In other questions, more respondents said they associated club membership with men than with women. The survey concluded that Rotary is still being seen as a male-dominated organization. Work needs to be directed toward communicating opportunities for women to join.

Interest in contributing time or money to a Rotary club varied by nation. Interest was highest in South Africa, at 49 percent, and lowest in Japan, at 10 percent. The survey report concluded that because interest in contributing money varies by nation, Rotarians need to tailor marketing efforts to reflect local club initiatives.

The public's interest in joining a Rotary club is low. Among the countries surveyed, an average of only 16 percent of respondents said they would be likely to join a local Rotary club. More than 59 percent said they would be unlikely to join. In the United States, women were half as likely as men to report interest in joining.

Similar findings

Similar findings came from focus groups that RI conducted between 2008 and 2010. The 40 groups included non-Rotarians in cities where Rotary had been experiencing membership declines. Read more about the results in the October/November 2010 issue of The Membership Minute, or download the full report.

“Because each Rotary club is independent in deciding what services they want to be involved in, this can cause mixed impressions in the communities on what we do,” Leung says. “These surveys underscore the importance of having a consistent message.”

Rotary Partners with World's Largest Postgraduate Water Education Institution

By Arnold R. Grahl and Wayne Hearn; Rotary International News -- 28 November 2011

Rotary clubs will be helping train engineers and scientists to solve problems in water and sanitation, particularly in developing countries, through a new strategic partnership between The Rotary Foundation and UNESCO-IHE Institute for Water Education.

Through the partnership, the Foundation will offer packaged grants that Rotary clubs may use to select and sponsor scholarships for professionals in the water sector. Up to eight students a year may be chosen for any of three master of science programs at the institute in Delft, the Netherlands.

Both the institute and Rotary share a vision of making water and sanitation more accessible and more sustainable for all people, particularly the poor. The partnership directly supports Rotary's water and sanitation area of focus.

"This strategic partnership with UNESCO-IHE enables Rotary to work with a globally recognized leader in the training of water professionals at a time when such experts are desperately needed in many parts of the world," said Rotary Foundation Trustee Chair William B. Boyd. "By identifying high-quality, high-potential candidates for these scholarships, Rotary clubs will play an important role in addressing a serious global problem."

"Eighty percent of diseases in the developing world are caused by the lack of water and appropriate sanitation," said UNESCO-IHE rector András Szöllösi-Nagy. "The cooperation with Rotary is an important milestone in the large-scale, global capacity building required to tackle this crisis."

Since 1957 UNESCO-IHE, the world's largest postgraduate water education facility, has provided master of science degrees and promoted PhDs to more than 14,500 water professionals from over 160 countries. The institute also promotes research and capacity building projects, manages a worldwide network of educational institutions and organizations in the water sector, provides professional expertise on water education, and plays a role in setting international standards for postgraduate water education and continuing professional training.

By focusing on postgraduate degree programs, The Rotary Foundation is making a long-term investment in water and sanitation, helping equip students with the research, managerial, and technical skills they will need to solve domestic problems by thinking globally. Working with the institute is a particularly good investment for the Foundation: most of the institute's students are from developing and emerging countries where the need is the greatest, and 87 percent of the program's graduates are still active in the field a decade later.

Rotary Foundation packaged global grants support large, international projects with sustainable, high-impact outcomes in Rotary's areas of focus. Because the initial work of finding a strategic partner and designing the general framework of the project has already been done, Rotarians can focus their talents and energies on the implementation.

One hundred Rotary districts are participating in the Future Vision pilot, a three-year test of the Foundation's streamlined grant structure, which began 1 July 2010. All districts will begin using the model on 1 July 2013.

The Foundation has previously approved strategic partnerships with Mercy Ships, Aga Khan University, and Oikocredit International. Pilot clubs and districts interested in packaged global grants with UNESCO-IHE can find more information, which will be posted online soon.

Selma Rotarians help feed Veterans during Veteran's Day

As one of its many community-building initiatives, the Selma Rotary Club participates in the annual Veteran's Day program held outside Memorial Stadium, near the WWI, WWII, Vietnam and Korean War memorials. Annually, the Club helps feed veterans, their families and guests who attend the event by serving hotdogs, chips and soft drinks.

"The motto of Rotary is Service Above Self. No group of citizens personify this tagline more than America's military veterans," said Selma Rotary Club President John Nettles. "We all owe our liberties, freedoms and individual rights to the legions of men and women that have served in the military whether in battle or in peace.

Approximately 200 people attended the event, which included a keynote address by Col. John Gibler, who fought in the Korean and Vietnam Wars.

"Today, let's resolve to honor all of those who have served," he said. "We all owe a great big thank you to them, as well as members of their family. Let us this day raise our glasses to those who have served around the world and those who serve to this day."

The ceremony ended by the playing of Taps, which was performed by American Legion Post 20 Commander Jesus Sanchez.

"The Rotary Club of Selma is proud to take a few hours out of our day to prepare and serve refreshments to those that come out to this program," Nettles said. "It is our small way of saying 'thank you' and to try to give a little back to those that gave so much."

Rotary Charitable Gift Annuities Payment Rates to Change

The Rotary Foundation's payment rates for Charitable Gift Annuities (CGA) will be reduced after 31 December 2011. Thus, individuals considering a CGA to support The Rotary Foundation, obtain tax benefits and obtain Major Donor status may want to act this December instead of waiting until January to make the gift before the end of the year to obtain a rate from the current rate schedule.

Why do Rotarians and friends love the Charitable Gift Annuity? When you contribute cash or appreciated securities to fund an annuity, The Rotary Foundation agrees to pay an annual fixed amount for the lifetime(s) of up to two annuitants. Your personal legacy is solidified when The Rotary Foundation's Permanent Fund becomes the ultimate beneficiary of your generosity. The gift generates an income tax charitable deduction in the year of the gift.

The transaction creates beneficial capital gain treatment for those contributing appreciated stock. The gift supports a favorite Rotary program such as the Rotary Peace Centers and achieves major donor recognition at the face value of the gift. It is a win-win for those tax-wise individuals looking to benefit their own, and Rotary's, financial future.

EREY Contributions

Encourage each of your members to donate at least $100 to the Rotary Foundation's Every Rotarian Every Year campaign. Be a part of Rotarians leading the way to help people here and around the world. Please do not wait until too late in the Rotary year to mail in these monies because it often takes a while for RI to process the information and it is very important that we get credit during this Rotary year. Your AG will be contacting you about this to see if you need any assistance.

Polio Contributions

Please join Rotary International's groundbreaking campaign to eradicate polio. District 6880 is suggesting the each club donate $17/member for polio. As long as polio threatens even one child anywhere in the world, children everywhere remain at risk.

2011-2012 Presidential and Changemaker Awards

Rotary President Kalyan Banerjee has set forth some new goals for Rotary Clubs to achieve recognition for their work in their community and around the globe with the newly updated Presidential Citation goals and the brand new Changemaker Award. Download the information you need from the District website to get your club qualified for these awards and submit your applications as soon as you are finished with your qualifying service projects! Hurry, Clubs must submit their results to the district governor no later than 6 April 2012 for the Presidential Citation and no later than 15 March 2012 for the Changemaker Award.

Rotary International The 4-Way Test - Of the things we think, say or do -

1. Is it the Truth?
2. Is it Fair to all concerned?
3. Will it build Goodwill and Better Friendships?
4. Will it be Beneficial to all concerned?

For six decades Rotarians have been using The 4-Way Test as a practical yard stick in their business, community, and personal affairs.

The 4-Way Test, you will note, does not provide answers. It asks questions which the user must answer. One of the world's most widely printed and quoted statements was created in 1932 by Rotarian Herbert J. Taylor when he was asked to take charge of a company that was facing bankruptcy.

In 1943, Rotary International adopted The 4- Way Test.
